On the room TV

Channels are delivered over the hotel network to compatible televisions. Choose the channels and their order for your property.

On the hotel Wi-Fi

Guests open a link on a phone, tablet or computer and watch in a compatible browser without installing an app.

In the guest's language

The portal is available in six languages. Where schedule data is available, guests can see what's on now and next.

Add channels without a new aerial

When a channel is available as an authorised IP feed, TVCastor Direct receives it over the internet and distributes it on the hotel network. You can add those channels without installing a new rooftop aerial or paying for an aerial installer to receive them.

A channel line-up for your guests

Channel choice

Choose local and international channels to suit the languages your guests speak and what they want to watch.

Feed monitoring

The dashboard shows which channels are available and flags detected interruptions.

Backup feeds

If you configure a backup source, the system can switch to it when the primary feed drops.

The line-up depends on which feeds are available and the rights to distribute them in your hotel. IP channels can complement your existing reception. Network and television compatibility are checked for each property.

An extra service for every stay

Showcase your services

Display your hotel's name and a welcome message. The welcome channel can also show breakfast hours or introduce hotel services.

Give guests a choice

Guests can watch live TV on their own tablet. International travellers can follow the news in their language where the channel selection allows.

Tell us about your hotel

Share your room count, television setup and preferred languages. We can discuss the channel line-up and plan the scope of a pilot together.
